Re: Assisted Living Facility Providers Rendering Adult Day Care Services

Managed care plans' credentialing and recredentialing processes must include ensuring that all Long-term Care (LTC) providers are appropriately qualified, as specified in Table 1 - LTC Provider Qualifications & Minimum Network Adequacy Requirements. (Attachment II, Exhibit II-B, Section VI.C.1.d.) The purpose of this policy transmittal is to clarify credentialing and recredentialing requirements for assisted living facility (ALF) providers rendering adult day health services to LTC enrollees.

Managed care plans serving LTC enrollees must ensure that ALF providers rendering adult day health care services are qualified to provide this service per Chapter 429, Part 1, F.S. Managed care plans must verify these providers' qualifications through the Facility/Provider Locator advanced search feature through www.FloridaHealthFinder.gov.

If you have any questions, please contact your Agency contract manager.

Sincerely,
